Excerpt: . our course of practice, we shall no more be governed by her assistance, or favoured by her indulgence, than would the man who after having sown his seeds in her bosom, yet mistrusting her powers, should dig them up daily, to examine their increase, or to change their bed. Another in-door employment for a little child is seen in what is called a Dutch town; or a number of pieces of wood in the form of houses, large and small, trees, c. It is a very pretty entertainment to move and place these pieces in every position; but as children will put every thing to their mouths, these toys should not be, as they usually are, whitewashed and daubed over here and there with vermillion, or pernicious colours, but should be neatly painted in oil colours, in which no preparation of lead, or verdigris, or other dangerous ingredient, has been mixed. The Dutch town may consist of houses, churches, trees, benches, and even platforms of thin wood, painted green to represent the middle of a square or park; and the mother, in arranging this toy, may change the order of it to the circus, the square, the crescent or the long street, according to her fancy. Diminutive tea things, mugs, cups, or other little vessels of pure tin, wherein is no particle of lead, brass, or copper; soldiers, and leathern balls, are harmless toys; as are all forms of animals, or little vessels, cut...
